RE: Tool Demo

Frank.

I know you are aware that district leadership will soon be looking at possible vendors for staff development and evaluation. Alan Krauskopf will be representing Escent Partners at these meetings and will be presenting the possibilities that the Time and Learning Program offers to teachers. I know I speak on behalf of the other Instructional Leaders at Columbine when I say that we have been thoroughly impressed with everything that Alan's company has brought to us. Each of us feels confident that the Time and Learning tool is increasing the use of effective teaching strategies and helping us understand what we can do to have the greatest impact on our students. The use of the tool has fostered dialogue between members of departments and has shaped curriculum and practice. I can say from personal experience that nothing in my twenty years of teaching has had a more powerful impact on what I do in my own classroom.

If you have the opportunity can you please share with Todd Engel and the other members of the committee how much Columbine supports Escent and how highly we think of Alan. His product and his willingness to work with teachers to meet specific school needs is proof that a partnership with Escent would benefit not only Columbine, but the entire district.

Thanks,

Tom Tonelli
